

Monica decided to take finding me a date into her own hands. This first photo shows a couple of ladies at Business English Salon looking over the flier Monica crafted. I only actually received one email from the flier... from a guy... huh??? (seriously)

So Monica decided to use one evening's Business English Salon as a dating show to find me a date. Here are a few pictures from the grand event, including the winner!

Dec 14, 2009 – Business English Salon Dating Game