

The little moments in life that make the sunshine a little brighter!

A vendor during the second week, who manufactured cheap Old West themed promotional products, displayed this great bobble head of President Obama to garner attention. Qualifies as one of those curiosities that can be nothing else than a “Kodak Moment”! If only Obama’s trip to China could have been a few weeks earlier to have come and seen this!

Thanks to the random Chinese students who were kind enough to take this and email it to me! Technology is an awesome thing ☺

And this curiosity was drafted by my friend Dustin for a Supply Chain management presentation about Alibaba Group, of which I have already posted my report. The lead in to the presentation was a self-produced movie with a quick story about Jessica’s (far left) baby having an idea that would change the world, but needing a good way to source the product. Then the Alibaba Group appears on TV and the baby’s solution is found. The final clip is this Ali G inspired movie poster that includes my group members. I am Ali B, Jessica, Ann (left to right), and Monica have joined the party. Again, technology is a wonderful thing!

#

