

Attention: Single Ladies!

My classmate, Monica, has decided that her next accomplishment in life will be to find me a girlfriend, or at least a few dates. So she designed this flier for distribution around the school and maybe even the city. I hear they have been placed in some of the dormitories, and Monica says she has some ideas of places to place them in around the city.

The real experiment may actually to find out if normally very conservative Chinese ladies will take a chance on something on an advertisement this bold, and match with an even bolder (by their culture's standards) email. Only time will tell.

The flier placed on the board at the Business English Salon on Thursday night seemed to lead to a number of girls writing down the email. It generated a lot of laughs too! But a check of the email on Sunday evening shows no emails sent. At least they copied the email down, right???

Attention: SINGLE LADIES!!

All the way from Honolulu, Hawai'i the most eligible bachelor in Guangzhou...
MR. JON HAASE

For the most amazing date of your life, please email
date.jon@gmail.com

中山大学 MBA Student

Bilingual World Traveler Caring Funny Adventurous